FAIRFIELD

The auditors have completed their work. The manuscript is in the hands of the printers, so that the annual report can be mailed to voters at least a week before the next town meeting. The books of all the various departments of the town's business were found to be in excellent condition. At last a system of keeping the various accounts has been evolved which proves satisfactory. It is said this is the first time in many years that such has been the case. The Selectmen's orders for the fiscal year just ending were $153,211.69. The orders for schools amounted to $28,454.83. The justices' orders were $77.79. This makes a total expense for the year of $182,344.20. The cash received by the town amounted to $184,359.10; balance, $2,014.88.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hotchkiss, Keyport, N. J., who have been the guests for the past week of J. H. Seward, left town today.

The boys of the Hargrove School who took an automobile trip to Boston on Saturday accomplished the journey in 11 hours. They arrived in town yesterday morning.

Joseph A. Jameson has issued invitations for the marriage of his daughter, Miss Frances Story Jameson, to Mr. Harold Hattie O'Connor, for Saturday, Oct. 9, at Twin Lakes, Conn. The Jamesons used to live in the Porter house, opposite the village green, and Miss Jameson has been in the habit of spending her summers in town, where she is well known, popular, and famed as a horse woman.

Rev. Dr. Child is not expected back from his vacation until the first of October.

There was an amusing incident connected with the recent dog show at the Somersby. A dog which used to adorn the grounds of Mrs. Harrison and for a long time no traces of it could be found. At the show it was discovered in one of the pens labeled "A. Point."

The case against Mrs. Negy, who has been arrested for assault on Washington Turney, and for breach of the peace at the instance of Mrs. Allen, was to have come up before the court yesterday, but has been continued for a week.

The dispossession case against Mr. Negy will be called on the 23d inst.

David Coe of Stratford was visiting in town yesterday.

Mrs. George Butkins has brought suit against John Kilms, complaining that on August 22, 1909, she was wheeling her baby carriage along the highway north of Lockwood crossing. On the same day the defendant while driving along the highway in the opposite direction, on his wrong side, drove against and into the baby carriage and broke the same. And John Butkins on the plain was thrown to the ground and much bruised in his hip and side and suffered great pain. Mrs. Butkins claims $50 damages. Attorney James J. Bacon is for the plaintiff, and Bacon Wakeman for the defense. The case was to have come up yesterday afternoon before Justice McAlpin, but has been continued.

A constitution is being drafted for the Sunday school of the Congregational church, to be adopted by the school and approved by the standing committee.

Thomas Murphy is the new driver for one of the Home Made Bakery teams.

It is thought that Dr. Donaldson, the health officer of the town, will in his annual report state that the public health has been very good. It will be recollected that last winter there was an epidemic of measles, which first appeared in Southport, and finally reached Mill River and Fairfield.

The Democratic caucus will meet tomorrow evening in the town hall, and everyone expects that Mr. Fox, the school officer, and popular First Selectman, will be renominated. He has made a painstaking and careful official, and being a gentleman of leisure, he owns an automobile, so so situated he can devote the whole of his time to the town's business if need be. But few gentlemen in town, willing to accept the office, can do this. Mr. Fox resides close by the post office and can be found without inconvenience by those who wish to consult him on matters pertaining to the government of the town. Under these circumstances, having given satisfaction for the past year, the Democrats cannot find a stronger name to place at the head of their ticket.
